Say Yes Institute

Currently we have been continuing to get what we need in order for the press release that will be going out to our media list.

During spring break we were able to get a few things done or started.

- ❖ Facebook.com page has been started
- ❖ First draft of a fact sheet

Glymetrix

After discussing with you we have decided to resign from working with Tom at Glymetrix. Tom is just expecting a little too much from us as students whom are trying to balance a lot of different things. We also know very little about what it is that Tom is looking for even after meeting with him. We also think that it would be best for Tom to hire some professional public relation expects.

We feel that we will be able to focus on working with Carrie more. We also feel if we have one client it will increase our chances of getting more publicity for Carrie.

We look forward to be able to show Carrie our undivided attention in hopes to get more publicity for her and the Say Yes Institute.
